

Q U O T E S

I can let things like fashion and clothes define who I am . . . it's who I'm known as.

I get jealous when I see others wearing better things than I have. . . It's important that you look better than anybody else.

I know that I'm made in his image, but I don't particularly like this image a whole lot.

Sometimes I wonder if I'm ever going to get to that size that I want to be.

Throughout sports and relationships, I got to the point where I was putting them first. I was worried about them more than my relationship with God.

I was always thinking, "What am I going to do to have all of these people like me?"

I was questioning God, asking "why?" I didn't understand.

to consider for each passage:

What does it tell us about how people seek a certain "image"?

What does it tell us about our true identity?

Is there a quote on the left that this passage could speak to?

An Image-Altering Prayer

Lord, I'm tired of trying to create this fantasy of myself. Lord God, change my desires, give me a new lens, give me brand-spanking new clarity that I can see things your way, value your way, and live your way. Amen.
